ÉTUDES BRITANNIQUES II

Histoire des îles britanniques

Présentation

British culture and history: Language, power and ideology

In the light of Linda Colley's argument in Britons: Forging the Nation (1707 - 1837), this course will approach the issue of Britain's troubled relationship to Europe, spanning the period from the Restoration to UK's entry in the E.E.C., by using a variety of material (pamphlets, travel writings, engravings, propaganda films ...) to show how representations, imaginings, perceptions and identities are intricately linked. The course is an attempt to show that Britain's relationship to Europe was forged as much through conflicts and rivalries as through cooperations and friendships.
